

The Centre for the Advancement of Learning and Teaching (CALT) presents

The 2009 Learning and Teaching Showcase Series

“From Faculty to Field: enhancing medical education through inter- professional community engagement”

An initiative of the Faculty of Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences
Monash University

Modern society demands a medical workforce that is strong, skilled and diverse in experience. The Community Based Practice (CBP) Program at Monash University continues to progress the educational experience of today's medical students by taking them beyond campus-based learning and into the real world.

We are pleased to invite members of staff and the wider Monash community to an event that will enable you to be informed, be inspired and be interactive with Partners, students and staff involved in the CBP Program.

Partner representatives from community based schools, health, welfare, advocacy and support based organisations will be present to discuss how the CBP Program is both supporting the needs of the community and developing medical graduates to be better-equipped to address their future patient needs.
